THE TONE AMPLIFIER

WITH GRILL REMOVED

Why the Brunswick Method of

Reproduction Insures a

Superior Phonograph

Reason No. 2

Equal in importance to reproduction is tone amplification. The Brunswick Method of Reproduction also includes a new idea in acoustics—The Brunswick Amplifier.

Old-time ideas were at variance. Some makers still cling to metal construction. Others use a combination of wood and metal—a wooden horn and a metal casting as the "throat."

But the Brunswick Amplifier is oval in shape, and built entirely of wood, like a fine violin. It is molded of rare holly-wood.

Sound waves require uniform amplification to reach their fullness. You will note that the Brunswick tone is richer and more natural. Strident, metallic notes are absent.

Make comparison. Let your ear decide. Try to find an equal to Brunswick tone.

You're bound to end such a search at a Brunswick Shop, where every opportunity will be given you to decide for yourself.

Hear this remarkable instrument before you decide. And you will avoid regrets.

Lesson From Robinson Crusoe.

Consider the wisdom of Robinson Crusoe. His biography is a good textbook for these times. It pictures the world of industry in its simplest terms. One man alone on an island, with nothing but the raw materials of nature about him, clothes himself, feeds himself, puts a roof over his head, accumulates property, lives happily, builds a merchant marine out of a hollowed log, and finally establishes communication with the rest of the world, to its profit and his own.

How did he do it? By hard work, by foresight, by self-reliance. Crusoe had to work or starve. He had to look ahead, else his work would be labor to no purpose. And he had to deny himself some enjoyment of the gains of the day or he would starve on the morrow.—The World's Work.

Solemn Asses Most Appreciated.

Thomas Corwin, Ohio's famous orator and renowned statesman, was noted for his more than abundant supply of native wit. He was a wonder in using it effectively in oratorical contests with political shogals and antagonists. Toward the latter part of his career Corwin had reached the conclusion that his caustic wit had seriously damaged his prospects for further advancement. He cautioned both John Sherman and Don Platt not to interlard their speeches with jokes. "Don't do it, my boys," protested Corwin. "Don't do it. The earth is dotted over with monuments erected above the remains of solemn asses."—Indianapolis Star.

The General Secretary spoke before a large audience Sunday evening in North Bennington on "Some Famous Young People." The service was entirely in the hands of the young people and they deserve much credit.

Cornish Tin Miners.

The men who work in the Cornish tin mines are a class by themselves, and all their differences are adjusted by the statutory courts, as they are called from the Latin word stannum. These curious courts have existed in their present form since the middle of the Thirteenth century, and in a simpler form, much earlier; and the miners claim to be free from all other jurisdiction, "except in matters affecting the last life or limb."

ACTIVITIES AT THE "Y"

Items of Interest Centering About This Popular Institution.

The Boy Scouts under the leadership of Henry MacLaren spent the week end at Camp Holden on the mountain. Fine eats, out of door sports, tests, etc., were indulged in freely.

Several members of the B. P. U. U. under the leadership of Miss Moore spent Friday evening at the Y camp. A fine program was put on and much enjoyed.

Physical Director Paddock with a group of young men went Saturday night to Camp, Skating and skating in full swing with the zero weather.

A good sized crowd of Bennington High school fellows under the leadership of "Gib" Ransom went over the week end to the G. M. C. camp.

A letter of sympathy signed by many high school fellows was sent Saturday to Sec. I. E. Munger upon the death of Mr. Munger's mother, which took place in Burlington.

Through the presidency of Mrs. F. E. Howe the Ladies Auxiliary have turned over a large supply of new dishes bearing the Y. M. C. A. seal. This makes a very fine and acceptable gift and a most handy one for the various meals served weekly at the Club-rooms.

Sunday afternoon a musical program and service was put on at the Soldiers' home by Volunteers Leader Kenneth Morse of the Y. M. C. A. Marshall Russell and Kenneth Morse played a number of selections which were warmly received by the old soldiers. Dr. Vincent Ravi-Booth spoke very feebly on "Love of Christianity." Miss Nellie Ray, who has done such valuable service for so long a time deserves much praise and credit and the Y. M. C. A. is always glad of an opportunity to help. A number of young men went down to assist in the singing.
